JAY KELLEY JOINS ABG AS BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT MANAGER

INDIANAPOLIS, IND – Jay Kelley has joined ABG as a Business Development Manager based in the company's Indianapolis office. For Kelley, it's really a return to ABG as he served as a marketing intern in the summer of 2007. He also worked with ABG when he interned with the National Pork Board in 2006.

Kelley received his Bachelor of Science in Agribusiness, Farm and Financial Management from the University of Illinois in 2007.

About his new responsibilities at ABG, Kelley said, "I am excited for the opportunity to work with the ABG team and with a variety of agriculture clients to help them advance their organizations."

Kelley has worked with commercial and nonprofit agricultural organizations in several roles, including an internship with the Illinois 4-H Foundation and serving in both state and national officer positions with FFA. He is a former President of Nabor House Cooperative Fraternity and earned several scholarship and leadership awards at the University of Illinois.

At ABG, Kelley will report to David Hollinrake, Vice President, Account Development who said, "Jay brings many unique skills to the party and we are very excited to have him join our team. I am confident he will serve both ABG and our clients well in the months and years ahead."

ABG is a global human capital management company that helps clients in the food, agriculture and life sciences industries improve organizational performance through development and engagement of their human capital assets. Growing since 1979, the ABG team operates from multiple domestic and international locations, including its Indianapolis headquarters. ABG is an Adayana company.
